BETWEEN THE LEAVES OF HER BIBLE

They Found the Prescription for Mrs. Maybrick's Face Wash.

A Bit of Paper Which May Help to Break Prison Bars.

Secretary Blaine's Assistance Likely To Be Requested.

NEW YORK, September 1.—In Barrister Macdonald's book on the Maybrick case, which was recently published in London, he states that one important thing discovered since the trial is the prescription for the face wash containing arsenic, which Mrs. Maybrick said she used constantly. She persisted in claiming that a prescription for that wash still existed, and from her lonely cell at Woking Jail the poor deserted woman wrote to her mother, asking her to endeavor to find it.

Among the very few articles which the Maybrick brothers allowed to be taken from the house was a Bible belonging to Mrs. Maybrick, and after the third trial this was given to her mother, the Baroness Roque. Afterward, in turning over the leaves of the book, the baroness came across a slip of written paper, which proved to be the face wash prescription. It was made out by a New York doctor, on the back of a blank of Wenck's pharmacy, 1200 Broadway, and gives as ingredients Fowler's solution of arsenic, chlorate of potash, aqua rosa, etc, adding, "Apply with a sponge twice a day." The prescription is signed "Bay 69 W. 231 street."

The store had been moved to the corner of 30th street and Broadway, and here the manager was found. He stated that a lawyer had called regarding the prescription about six months ago, and a thorough search had been made of Wenck's books. There was no date or number furnished, however, and it was most puzzling work to hunt through prescription books without any key to go by. That was, perhaps, one reason why they were unsuccessful in their search.

American friends of the fair, hopeless prisoner, are interesting themselves in the matter of finally securing this valuable little paper, and a formal appeal will probably be made to Secretary Blaine to interest himself in her behalf.

LABOR'S DAY.

Governor Burleigh's Proclamation Calling for Its Observance.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, September 1.—The following proclamation has been issued by the governor:

STATE OF MAINE:

By the Governor:—A Proclamation:

The Legislature of Maine having duly designated the first Monday in September as a legal holiday, to be known as Labor Day, I hereby invite the people of this state to accord it an appropriate observance.

It is fitting that upon that occasion business pursuits be suspended and our citizens unite in paying a just respect to the day set apart in honor of those whose industry is the foundation of our material prosperity and progress.

Given at the Council Chamber at Augusta, this first day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifteenth.

EDWIN C. BURLEIGH.

MAINE.

The Deadly Car Stove.

AUGUSTA, September 1.—Owing to the fact that some of the methods for heating passenger, mail and baggage cars in this state, heretofore approved by the railroad commissioners, are not as safe as might be, the commissioners today issued an address in which they quoted the law passed by the legislature of 1889, which declares that common stoves shall not be allowed in passenger, mail or baggage cars. The board gives notice to railroad corporations and all manufacturers of car-heating methods that no method will be approved after June 30th, 1892, which is not deemed to reduce the danger to passengers to a minimum.

To Heat the Insane Asylum.

AUGUSTA, September 1.—Now that the trustees of the insane hospital have decided to maintain a heating plant in connection with the institution, 2000 tons of coal have been purchased and a big new boiler ordered. The boiler is to be set up at once and a new stack built. It is expected to have the apparatus in operation by cold weather.

Ingenuity Rewarded.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—Patents have been granted to Emery Andrews of Kennebunk for waterproof parchment paper, A. Francis Cloudman, E. B. Newcomb and F. H. Cloudman of Cumberland Mills for bleaching apparatus, Walter E. Frost of Lewiston for crimping machine, Charles H. Weston of Yarmouthville for press.

A Coal Deposit at Boothbay.

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, September 1.—While discharging coal from the schooner Break of Day at 5 p. m., at Pierce & Dunton's, the coal dock gave way, letting about 200 tons of coal into the water, the buildings going with it. Winfred Giles had his hip dislocated by the fall.

Drowned in Schodic Lake.

BROWNVILLE, September 1.—There was a drowning accident on Schoodic Lake Sunday. Mr. Enoch Cobb and his son Walter, and Augustus Holt, went out in a canoe, and through some accident the canoe was upset. Before aid could reach them Mr. Holt was drown. The other two men were rescued in an exhausted condition.

Handy to the Bath Shipyards.

BATH, September 1.—The coal deposit at Cape Small Point, near the mouth of the Kennebec river, is more extensive than has been supposed. At Cape Small Point the drillers are finding good veins of coal at depths ranging from 870 to 900 feet, and shafts will be sunk at once.

DeMolay on a Pilgrimage.

SKOWHEGAN, September 1.—DeMolay Commandery, Knights Templar, of Skowhegan, left here this morning on its annual pilgrimage to Dexter, Dover, Greenville and Moosehead Lake. The party numbered 70, including ladies. The Waterville cornet band accompanied the party.

Farm Buildings Burned.

SKOWHEGAN, September 1.—The farm buildings of Wood Brothers at Embden burned yesterday afternoon. Loss $1500. James B. Weston's farm buildings at Anson burned yesterday. Loss $2200.

Reception to the Naval Officers.

BELFAST, September 1.—The citizens' reception to the officers of the White Squadron at the Crosby Inn tonight, was a largely attended and very successful affair.

Drowned in Sebois Lake.

BANGOR, September 1.—Austin Hall of Brownville was drowned Sunday at Sebois Lake while fishing. The body was recovered yesterday.

Bingham's New Industry.

BINGHAM, September 1.—S. F. Goodrich has purchased land and will at once erect a last factory here.

To Call Out the Millia.

CHICAGO, September 1.—A plan is on foot by which it is expected to bring 100,000 militia men from the various states to this city during the world's fair. The enterprise is to be backed to the extent of $350,000. A camp is to be laid out contiguous to the world's fair grounds capable of accommodating five to six thousand troops at a time, and the intention is to give the different states in turn the use of the camp for one week.

The Park Place Horror.

NEW YORK, September 1.—The taking of testimony in the Park Place inquest was continued today. The testimony thus far is very contradictory. It shows the building was weak and overweighted. Four buildings which adjoin the wrecked buildings have been declared unsafe and will have to be torn down. The relief fund now amounts to over $17,000.

How This Rascal Swindled.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., September 1.—The paymaster in a large mill here has fled. He was discovered in an embezzlement. He had held his place a year. Each week he received the time-sheets from the overseers of the several rooms and transferred the time to a book kept by himself. He would place the full time against a party who only worked a part, and hand it to the bookkeeper. The latter would turn over the money to pay for the the time on the paymaster's books, and the latter would pay the help for the actual time, reserving for himself the balance. His operations have extended during the entire year. A new superintendent looked into affairs more closely, and found him out. The examination so far shows a shortage of $500. There are more books to be examined.

TIRED OF LIFE.

So He Cut His Throat with a Razor, But Failed to Kill.

[Special to the Press.]

ROCKLAND, September 1.—Edward Brewster, who resides at Sherer's Mills, about two miles from this city, attempted suicide this afternoon by cutting himself with a razor. He succeeded in making a gash across his throat and another under his arm. A physician was promptly summoned from here who stopped the flow of blood, doubtless saving the man's life. Brewster, who came here from California a short time ago, has been ill with consumption for two years, and said he was tired of living. He is about 40 years of age.

BAPTISTS IN COUNCIL.

Annual Meeting of the Cumberland Association in Auburn.

AUBURN, September 1.—The Cumberland Baptist Association met in the Court street church here today, its 81st annual meeting. The meeting for organization was called to order at 10 15 by Rev. W. H. KANSAS CITY, Mo., September 1.—One of the desperadoes who robbed the Corder, Mo. bank, yesterday afternoon, was captured late last night about twenty miles from Corder, and about half of the stolen money was found in his possession. He gave his name as Andrew Murrell. It is reported that Deputy Sheriff Jackson and City Marshal Dean, who had the robber in charge and were taking him to Lexington, the county seat, were met by a mob of enraged citizens who overpowered them, took their prisoner and lynched him.

BOSTON CROOKS WHO SMOKED OPIUM

Awoke From Sweet Dreams to Find Themselves in Limbo.

Peculiar Capture of Some Bad Citizens of the Hub.

Mask and Revolver Make a Burglar in Roxbury Dramatic.

BOSTON, Mass., September 1.—Police circles here have been stirred today by a daring robbery, after committing which the armed burglar escaped, and by the fortunate capture of five well known crooks who were discovered "hitting the pipe" in an opium joint. The robbery was committed early this morning at the house of Mr. James A. Houston, of the firm of R. H. White & Co., at the corner of Maple and Schuyler streets, Roxbury. William Houston, one of Mr. Houston's sons was awakened about 1.30 o'clock by the barking of his dog and saw standing in his room, a masked burglar with a dark lantern and a revolver in his hands. Ordering Mr. Houston to keep quiet the burglar proceeded to search this room and also that of Ernest Houston adjoining, securing a couple of valuable gold watches and about $50 in money. He then attempted to enter Mr. and Mrs. Houston's room but found the door locked. As soon as he was heard going down stairs the young men closed their bedroom doors and raised an alarm from the windows, but the burglar succeeded in escaping in spite of the prompt police response to the call. Entrance had been made through a front window by breaking a pane of glass, and a hasty exit by the back door which had probably been unfastened for the purpose. Before going to the sleeping apartments the burglar ransacked the lower part of the house and secured quite a quantity of solid silver from the dining room.

The details of the second matter of interest to the police are as follows:

About 11.30 o'clock this morning, two police officers in citizens' dress, Inspector Cogan and Patrolman Morrisey of Division 2, were standing on School street, when their attention was drawn to a shabbily dressed young man, who had a handsome light colored mackintosh coat on his arm. Further inspection showed that there was a tag on the coat, and the officers knew that it must have been stolen. They followed the fellow at a respectful distance, and he turned into Washington street and walked rapidly toward the South End. He turned into Essex street, and then into Oliver place, where he entered a certain house which the officers believed formerly served as a refuge for thieves. The officers waited a few moments and then entered the house themselves.

A woman ushered them up to an attic room after hearing their demand that the room is rented by one Charles Rogers, a well known fence for thieves, who claims to keep a chair seating establishment on Atlantic avenue, but who, it is charged, really runs an opium den and receives stolen property at his room on Oliver place. There was no response to the officers' knocking, and they pushed open the door. Lying about on the floor were five men, all "hitting the pipe" and in a half unconscious state. The entire party was placed under arrest, one or two being recognized as old thieves.

When the patrol wagon arrived, the five men, who made but a faint resistance, were bundled inside and taken to Station 4. Subsequently they were carried to police headquarters in the police van, with the stolen property recovered. They are booked as Richard Sullivan, 22 years of age, recognized as an old pickpocket and thief, who has been under arrest several times before; Charles Burton, alias Burt Ray, 22 years of age, a well known pickpocket and all-round thief; Frank Adams, 25 years of age; Maurice Corcoran, 18 years of age, who is on probation for breaking and entering, and Thomas B. Fielding, 18 years.

The man whom the officers saw with the coat and followed was young Ray.

FIRED SOLID SHOT.

An American Sealer the Prize of a Russian Cruiser.

VICTORIA, B. C., September 1.—The most important news of the season has been brought down by the schooner Geneva. She brought 600 skins, and is first home of those venturesome schooners that made for the Russian side of the sea. Two days after reaching Behring Sea she was ordered out by H. M.S. Pleasant, and Capt. Seward, knowing his owners would be heavy losers if he came home, made for the Russian side and brought up 12 miles off the rookery at Copper Island.

He ran in between the American schooners Teresa and J. Hamilton Lewis, and at once sent a boat to the former to see what luck she had. The Teresa gave the news that since had the schooner Lewis had fallen the Russians many times, but on the day before, August 2, Capt. Alexander McLean, of the Lewis, was ashore with two boats, and just as they were returning to the schooner 10 Russian guards rushed on them over the sand hills and shooting with rifles. They fired several rounds, and though many bullets hit the boats only Capt. McLean was struck. His knee cap was smashed and his left hand hit.

Then both schooners made off to their position, 12 miles from Copper Island. The Russian man-of-war Alert, 13 guns, the next day steamed out after the three schooners at full speed. All of them put on every stitch of canvas, and for 12 miles there was a long chase, the Alert firing blank cartridges all the time.

Then the wind fell off and she came up to within a mile of the Lewis and fired a ball that smashed the bowsprit in halves and brought her to. The Geneva and Teresa then saw two boats pull from the Russian and board the Lewis, which 10 minutes afterward was taken in tow and rapidly disappeared.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to retain or preserve communications that are not used.

It looks as if it would not do any harm to carry the temperance reform into Alaska. The natives there have invented a drink called bootcha, which seems to be more fatal than the stuff known round here as "split."

Nobody will be surprised to hear that a revolution is about to break out in Hayti. The only reason it has been delayed so long is that the people were busy gathering the coffee crop. When that is secured there will be leisure for fighting, and fighting will undoubtedly come.

Gov. Hill, of New York, appears to have decided that Roswell P. Flower is the proper man for the Democrats to nominate for Governor this fall. This probably settles it. Hill is practically the dictator of the New York Democracy, which seldom fails to sneeze when he takes snuff.

The Boston Journal invites all the Massachusetts Republicans who stayed at home on the last election day to send in their preferences as between Crapo and Allen. The Journal apparently thinks these preferences should have great weight in settling the choice. Well, we suppose, they should be heard, but the views of the Republicans who do not stay at home on election day are quite as worthy of consideration, rather more so in fact.

As was predicted the silver plank of the Ohio Democratic platform is getting Governor Campbell into lots of trouble with the independent German voters in his party. The Germans of Ohio are generally noted for their thrift and enterprise. If one of them wants a dollar he goes to work and earns it man fashion by industry, or saves it by economy. He is not anxious to get advantage by diminishing the value of the dollar in which he pays his debts, because he knows that he himself will be paid off in the same coin. The Republicans are taking advantage of this state of feeling in the Democratic ranks, and Senator Sherman and Mr. McKinley are making the dollar of 100 cents the leading text of their speeches.

The overthrow of Balmaceda is by no means equivalent to the reconstruction of the government on a constitutional basis. Now that it has won the junta may be inclined to be much less patriotic and much less liberty loving than it was when it was appealing to the people for support against the tyrannical President. Tyrants are developed with great facility in South American states, and it is seldom a revolution occurs without one springs up quite as tyrannical as the one the rebellion was raised to put down. Perhaps the junta which has been engineering the Chilian revolution may be able to put away ambition, but it is greatly to be feared that some member of it may see an opportunity to seize power and avail himself of it. A general who wins a victorious army at his back in a South American state is very liable to develop into a dictator.

The Congregationalist has been studying the habits of Bostonians relative to Sunday observance. It finds and reports that, a week ago last Sunday, in the eleven "old" wards of Boston, 50,200 people went to church (182 to synagogue) in the morning, and 16,909 in the evening. The total population of the eleven wards is 172,431. The number of Bostonians (and sojourners in Boston) who leave town every Sunday by rail is in excess of 30,000; the number leaving it by boat on pleasant Sundays is in excess of 15,000. Some thousands more make their way to City Point and other resorts by means of the street cars. The Congregationalist finds little tendency to secularize Sunday, in the way of opening shops or pursuing vocations of week days. The day is pretty generally observed as a day of rest, but as a day of worship by attendance on church it is evidently declining. Of course this decline is not peculiar to Boston. It is observable in every city, nor is the country by any means free from it. "What shall be the attitude of the church toward the present popular methods of observance of Sunday," asks the Congregationalist. As that journal disclaims any thought of surrendering or compromising the "Christian conception of the Lord's Day as not only a day of rest but of worship," it would seem that its answer must be that the church should bend its energies to endeavor to restore the Sabbath as our grandfathers kept it.

Canada's Predicament.

The census of the Dominion of Canada just completed shows that in the last decade the provinces of this dependency of Great Britain have gained altogether less than half a million of population. A large part of this gain has been made in the northwestern province of Manitoba. The western provinces of Quebec and Ontario have added slightly to their numbers, while the maritime provinces have literally stood still, having no more people today than ten years ago. Of course this showing must be a great disappointment to the Dominion. During the past ten years strong efforts have been made to induce immigrants to settle in the country, railroad facilities have been greatly increased, and everything done that the government could do to stimulate growth. Yet in spite of all these things the population of the whole Dominion remains at less than 5,000,000 souls. But this is not the whole story. While the increase in population has been going on at a small-like pace, the burdens of the taxpayers have been increasing by leaps and bounds. The great railroad subsidies which were expected to develop the country, and with that development bring in hundreds of thousands of industrious immigrants to help bear the newly imposed burdens, have almost entirely failed of their object, and there are scarcely any more shoulders to help bear the burdens than there were when they were imposed. The people have been at great expense to render their country attractive to capital and labor, yet both have almost entirely shunned it. The capitalist and the laborer have hastened through it to the United States, and there, and not in the Dominion, have invested their money and their energy. These are the melancholy facts which the Canadians are compelled to face by the disclosures of their census. They cannot get away from them.

Of course these things are to have an important influence on the future policy of the country. When the existing government goes before the people, as it soon must, for a vote of confidence it has got to meet these facts and show that it is in no wise responsible for them, if it would be returned to power. For ten years past the country has been solely under the government of the Conservative party. That party has determined its policy. That party has persistently resisted the demand of the opposition for closer commercial relations with the great neighbor to the south. That party has persistently proclaimed that the path to prosperity was the one it had mapped out, yet now it is conclusively demonstrated that instead of advancing the country has really retrograded in the past decade, and is worse off today than ten years ago. Promises unfulfilled, brilliant anticipations come to naught, millions expended to develop the country, and the country still at a standstill; this all that the Conservative party has got to show as the sequel of its policy. On such a showing can it get returned? If it can, the electors of the Dominion must be made of very different stuff from the electors of their Southern neighbor.

The Chilian Denunciation of Tyranny.

While Balmaceda, the late President of Chili, is fleeing across the bleak and wintry Andes to escape the triumphant army of the Congressional party, many people are inquiring just what he has done to merit his present misfortunes and to justify the Congressional party in plunging their country into war. When the English parliamentary party determined to cut off the head of Charles I they were able to point in justification of their act, to certain specific acts which the king had committed. He had levied taxes without the consent of the people, he had imprisoned without cause innocent citizens of the realm, he had put to death men against whom there were no sufficient charges, and in general he had conducted himself like a despot and not as a constitutional king should. So too, when the American colonies determined to shake off the yoke of England, they were able to draw that thrilling and specific indictment against George III, which is one of the most forcible passages of the Declaration of Independence. The Chilian patriots have not found it difficult to draw an equally forcible indictment against Balmaceda:

In order to maintain his usurpation he has trodden under foot the Constitution and laws of his country, and has declared that he will rule the nation without regard to the Constitution or the laws.

He has, without the authority of law, caused the emission of Government paper money to the amount of twelve millions of dollars.

He has, contrary to law, issued an inferior metallic coinage.

He has filled the country with spies.

He has violated the sacred rights of domicile.

He has violated the sacredness of private correspondence, guaranteed by the Constitution.

He has refused to obey the decrees of the high tribunal of justice, the Supreme Court.

He has imprisoned many judges.

He has impeded by brute force, the courts of justice, and forbidden them to exercise their high functions.

He has silenced all the public journals that opposed or criticised his acts, sometimes confiscating or ordering the destruction of all their printing material.

He has thrown into prison hundreds of law-abiding citizens, and kept them confined with criminals.

He has imprisoned many of the members of Congress, whose persons under the Constitution are inviolable.

He has dissolved Congress.

He has ordered the election of new Senators and Representatives, although the terms of more than two-thirds of the Senators of the Constitutional Congress had three years to run.

He has altered and modified the election laws by his own arbitrary will.

He has revoked, in the same arbitrary manner, the law which forbids the public employes to be Senators or Representatives, the majority of the new members being salaried employes.

He has embargoed the property of many of his opponents.

He has taken cattle, horses and other property of his adversaries.

He has made use of the public funds according to his absolute will, and in palpable violation of the laws.

He has increased more than three times the pay of the officers and soldiers of his army.

He has enrolled by force an immense number of citizens against their will and against the laws.

He has cruelly martyrized, by flogging and other ignominious tortures, hundreds of respectable citizens, rich and poor, without respect to age and condition.

He has caused to be shot to death many citizens without a legal trial or sentence, in some instances sending his orders for their execution by telgram.

By a mere telegraphic order he caused the execution, in cold blood, of 80 in the province of Antofagasta, the 9th of March, for refusing to serve in his army against the constitutional government.

In a word, Mr. Balmaceda uses his power as an odious and cruel tyrant, and no one is safe in person and property.

Americans will wonder how a President could do all this. He did it as Charles I. was able to do his works of tyranny. Charles had an army, an organized and disciplined force, with which he could nip opposition in the bud. And Hampden and the other English patriots joined issue with the king on this very point, the control of the army. Parliament finally secured control of the great instrument, and so jealous is it of this control to this day, that it will vote supplies to that army for no more than a year. Balmaceda had the army. Had he been equally fortunate in securing the navy he would probably have perpetuated his power indefinitely. But by some fortunate intrigue the patriotic party secured control of enough ships to put themselves in a favorable position. In the United States no President could run such a course. Congress could refuse appropriations for a year, and the power of any despot would crumble of its own accord. But the South American Republics have not advanced so far in the pathway of constitutional government that there does not remain about the office of a President much of the power of a military dictator. It is necessary that the executive should be strong, because the people are not so capable of self control and self government as are our own people. Therefore such revolutions are inevitable; and it would not be surprising to find Chili troubled with another arbitrary President before many years.

MAGAZINE NOTICES.

The September Scribner's continues the articles upon Ocean Travel with an account of the steamship lines of the world, by Ridgley Hunt, of the United States Navy. This article tells of steamships and the routes on all portions of the globe. Its illustrations are very interesting, dealing with such foreign scenes as the Barber of Valparaiso in a storm. The story entitled The Wrecker, which is being produced as the joint effort of Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osborne is continued through several interesting chapters. Odd American homes is the result of some one's original ideas. For some time the magazines have had articles giving specimens of American home architecture, these specimens being of lordly mansions of millionaires. Mr. John R. Spears has undertaken to introduce us to another kind of American home architecture. He has hunted out all the odd forms of homes he could find, the dugout of the southwestern pioneer, the sod house of the Kansas farmer, the squaw man's house of Indian Territory, the blackfoot's tepee, the house of the light-house keeper on Delaware breakwater, the Adrondack home in winter, etc. With the illustrations and the descriptions the article has great interest. An instructive article of foreign travel is Mr. James Ricalton's description of the City of the Sacred Bo-tree, of Celyon. His interesting descriptions are interspersed with numerous pictures, one of them being an illustration of the oldest historical tree in the world, 2,130 years old. Those who are interested more in books than people will be more interested in Adventures Among Books, by Andrew Lang. The housewives will be delighted with Alice Morse Earle's descriptions of the Rewards of a China Hunter in New England. Some pictures of rare and costly relics found in old New England houses accompany this article. Readers of Browning will of course not want to miss Felix Moscheles's Browning's Assolo. College men will want to read Josiah Royce's discussion of Present Ideals of American University Life. There is not much fiction in this September number, but Thomas Nelson Page has a story entitled Run to Seed; and Charles G. D. Roberts has a short sketch called Captain Joe and Jamie. Of poetry there is not a line.

September is the time when all the young people come back to school from their vacations. The Forum for September recognizes this fact in the first five of its articles, which are: What a Boys' school Should be, by Rev. Dr. Henry A. Coit; Ideals of the New American University, by President David S. Jordan; Technological Education in the United States, by Prof. H. W. Tyler; The Higher Education of Women, by Alice Freeman Palmer; and Physical Hindrances to Teaching Girls, by Charlotte W. Potter. As the season of political excitement returns again Hon Henry Cabot-Lodge comes forward with a discussion of the political issues of 1892 Hon. John W. Bookwalter explains at length his novel scheme to relieve the farmers' isolation. Other articles are, authors' complaints and Publishers' Profits by George H. Putnam; The Growth and Triumph of Wagnerism, by Henry T. Frink; The Government and the Taxpayer by Edward Atkinson; The Recent Growth of Industrial Capitalization, by J. Selwyn Tait; The Future of Electrical Railways, by Frank J. Sprague; and Accident Insurance, by James R. Pitcher.

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

Young Prince George of Wales is said to be covered with tattoings of mermaids and dolphins.

The chair of oratory in the university of Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, has been offered to Miss Norma C. Crawford of Minersville, Penn.

C. H. Cramp, the Philadelphia shipbuilder, who is just back from Europe, declares that vessels like the City of Paris or Teutonic could now be built as cheaply in America as on the Clyde.

It is rumored that the Princess of Monaco, who, by the way, is a beautiful and fashionable woman, has persuaded her husband to suppress gambling altogether at Monte Carlo when the present contract expires, and then the Princess intends to convert the Casino into a hospital for consumptives among the poorer classes.

Sir William and Lady Gordon-Cumming have taken passage for America in October. They are now the guests of Lord and Lady Middleton at Applecross Forest, Rosshire. With one or two exceptions, Sir William complains of no lack of warmth among his former army associates, whom he meets now in the hunting field. Lady Gordon-Cumming's American friends write to her, promising a cordial reception in her old home.

The widow of the late Maj. Kinney of Hartford is about to visit several Indian reservations in the West. She is president of the Connecticut Indian Association and active in the Mohonk conference work. While with the Omahas she will be the guest of Dr. Susan La Flesche, government physician. At Fort Hall, Idaho, she will assist in dedicating some buildings for educational work, driving the last nail herself, and furnishing a national and Connecticut flag therefor. Before she comes East again Mrs. Kinney may run up to Alaska.

MURDOCK LIQUID FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS.:

Gentlemen—I have sent you by mail a photograph of my four children (boys), thinking that it might interest you a little, as they were all four brought up on your Liquid Food as their standard diet, most especially the one on the right of the picture. When he was about six months old he was very sick from having been given sour milk by a careless nurse—in fact was so bad the physician was unable to leave the house for two weeks, during which time the child was virtually dead from want of nutrition, as he was unable to keep anything whatever on his stomach. After trying all the known prepared foods, both foreign and domestic—none of which were of any use—the physician, as a final hope, had me buy a bottle of your Liquid Food, and from the very first five drops given he began to rally, and has been in most excellent health since.

Whenever any of them show any signs of weakness whatever we immediately give them your Liquid Food, and it always acts like a charm in restoring them to health.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR J. PURSELL.

Any case that has been under medical treatment for three months and no relief we will carry free of expense, with Murdock's Liquid Food until cured or made better.

This building was formerly the Free Surgical Hospital for Women, and supported by the Murdock Liquid Food Company, Boston (now their works). Over 3000 women were treated in six years at a cost of $1.00 a day, including operations—which would amount to over $100,000—to prove the value of Nutrition as found in Murdock's Liquid Food. The last 1000 operations were made with a loss of 5 deaths.

The last 382 operations were made with only one death, and consisted of

Capital cases	45	Expiration of the heart	12
Rectal "	26	Curvature	40
Laceration of Cervix	129	Recission of Knee Joint	2
Rupture of Perito-neum	49	Exclision and Drainage	9

Vescio Vaginal Fistula	2	Replacing Uterus	2
Removal of Cysts	5	Dilation	12

" Nevus	1
Recto	2

The women of Massachusetts die, 29, New York 32, Pennsylvania 30, to the 1000, annually.

These results show that the value of Nutrition as found in Murdock's Liquid Food in preventing relapse after operations, as it is as great as in curing all classes of diseases, as it makes new blood faster than all food preparations known, and new blood will cleanse the system of disease, as well as heal the wounds after operations.

OF INTEREST TO INVESTORS.

Safe, Profitable and Where You Can See It.

6 PER CENT GUARANTEED.

Much More Probable.

The Hall Mowing Machine Company offer for sale $50,000 of preferred stock The Chapman Banking Company of this city guarantees upon this stock a 6 per cent dividend, payable semi-annually, for three years, the first dividend being payable September 15, 1891. In ADDITION to the dividend guaranteed it can be readily shown that the stock is also certain to draw a contingent dividend much larger than that guaranteed. In our judgment it cannot fail to pay better than 20 per cent.

The company is the owner of patents which are conceded to be of the greatest value, and which many expert machinists predict will evolutionize the manufacture of mowers. The company has already more orders than it can fill the present year, and unquestionably has a future of exceptional prosperity. Among those interested in this enterprise are several of the strongest men of Portland and vicinity.

Until April 1st, unless previously withdrawn, this stock will be sold at par; after that date, at par and accrued guaranteed dividend.

The stock is offered solely for the purpose of extending the plant and building and equipping a new factory.

We shall be glad to give full particulars of our property and our plans to any investor who will call at our factory, 27 Commercial Street, Portland, or to furnish like information by mail to any who prefer to make inquiries in that way.

MR. YOUSTO B. WAS.

No One Could Get Ahead of This Gentleman.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Did you ever have the extreme pleasure of meeting Mr. Was—Mr. Youstо B. Was? He is a small man who stands very straight and looks so wise as to be almost severe. I met him first at a game of billiards. He said he used to be an exceedingly skillful player; that he was at one time counted among the very best of billiardists, but that he had not played the game for a long time and had forgotten nearly all he ever knew. Then he took up his cue and leveled the wrong end of it at the ball. He didn't make a shot during the game, but he counted one for every attempt, and kept telling me that he was out of practice. When the game was finished he said:

"Well, considering that you had about three shots to my one, I held you a pretty close race. I think if I had shot as often as you did I should have beaten you."

The next time I met him we played whist together. He began by saying that when he was an officer in the navy he was rated the best whist player in his squadron, but he explained that he had not played the game for many years and would be a little clumsy at first. He was. He played the deuce of clubs on the ace of trumps and raked in the trick, smilingly warning our opponents that if they expected to take tricks they must play something bigger than one spots.

I met Mr. Was a great many times after that, not by any prearrangement, but just happened to meet him—unawares, you know. The last time I met him was the day the girls and I went out to pick cherries. Mr. Was saw us and came over to help. He was not an available cherry picker. He could not reach even the lowest limbs.

"I used to be the champion cherry picker," said he, "but that was when I was a great deal taller than I am now."—Detroit Free Press.

The Use of a Lightship

[Gustav Kobbe in Century.]

One day we had what was perhaps a practical illustration of the lightship's usefulness. It was a hazy morning, and the mate was scanning the horizon with his glass. Bringing it to bear to the southward, he held it long in that direction, while a look of anxiety came over his face. Several of the crew joined him, and finally one of them said, "If she keeps that course five minutes longer she'll be on the shoal." Through the haze a large three masted schooner was discernible, heading directly for a reef to the southwest of us.

She was evidently looking for the lightship, but the haze had prevented her from sighting us, although our sharp lookout had had his glass on her for some time. Then, too, as the mate remarked, with a slightly critical smile, "These captains feel so sure of their course that they always expect to raise us straight ahead." Suddenly there was evidence that she had sighted us.

She swung around as swiftly as if she were turning upon a pivot. She had been lunging along in an uncertain way, but the sight of us seemed to fill her with new life and buoyancy. Her sails filled, she dashed through the waves with streaks of white streaming along each quarter like foam on the flanks of a race horse, and on she came, fairly quivering with joy from keel to pennant.

Such instances are of almost daily occurrence, and if we add to them the occasions—and they must run far up into the hundreds, if not into the thousands—when the warning voice of the fog bell and the guiding gleam of the lamps have saved vessels from shipwreck, it seems as though the sailor must look upon the South Shoal lightship as one of the guardian angels of the deep.—Boston Globe.

Peculiar Expectations About Death.

[Interview in St. Louis Globe Democrat.]

A curious study in which a newspaper friend of mine is indulging is that of determining the character of the opinions that many men of many minds entertain in regard to the time and manner of their own deaths. The result of his study is certainly interesting, to say the least. One of the foremost men in politics in this state firmly believes that he will die by a bullet. He has no reason for that belief except the unexplainable presentiment that he has carried about with him all his life.

Even when he was a boy he was fascinated with the idea, and he always believed that when his time came he would die by a bullet, and rather viewed the matter complacently. Nevertheless, he went to the wars, and, besides, he has fought two duels and been an officer of the government in the detection and arrest of moonshiners, and although his life has been in imminent peril many times, he has never been touched by a bullet.

Another man, one of the brightest newspaper men in Boston, believes that he will die of pneumonia. Still another gentleman, a physician of great skill and a scholar of much reputation, believes that he will be suffocated. He has an idea that he will be hanged in some accidental way, and if you should talk to him about this you would find that he is painfully in earnest, and really permits his strange presentiment to seriously disturb him. Just why he should [illegible]

Why She Wasn't Afraid.

The fresh air children see the country with their own eyes, not with yours or mine. They steadily refuse to gratify the taste of sentimental and exacting persons by becoming morbidly lost in marvel, or rapt in poetic fancy. Occasionally one finds a child whose mind is sensitive, and who develops a rare appreciation of the beauty of living close to the heart of things, but usually these charity children enjoy whatever comes to them in just the same unreflecting prosaic, wholesome way that we find most gratifying and healthful in our own children.

Very strange and wonderful everything is to them, to be sure; but in a land where everything is strange and wonderful one loses sight of special marvel. A peculiar and disastrous hailstorm once swept over a farm where a dozen children were staying. The children did not realize that they were terrified, but the little visitors were perfectly calm.

"I thought maybe it always rained sharp glass in the country," said one little girl, when they asked her why she wasn't afraid.—Harper's Bazar.

Speciacles or Tongs.

They tell a good story of Chief Justice Peters, of the supreme court of Maine, one of the brightest and wittiest ornaments of the bench in that state or any other.

While the judge was still a practicing lawyer he had for a client a farmer named Hanscom, who, though he was well past middle age, had the notion that he was as young as ever, and could hold his own in a mowing field with the best of them.

One day the farmer came into the judge's office to look at some papers which had been drawn up for his signature, and as he picked up the first one he began to adjust it in the manner sometimes spoken of by those who use glasses and mislay them as "telescoping."

The judge noticed the action, and seeing that the farmer was holding the paper pretty well at arm's length, remarked pleasantly:

"Your eyesight seems to be failing a little, Mr. Hanscom. You'll have to get a pair of spectacles."

"Not a bit of it," growled the old farmer, "not a bit of it. My sight's as good as it ever was. I shan't want 'spectacles' for a good many years yet."

"All right," said the judge. "You'll have to get a pair of tongs then."—Detroit Free Press.

He Drew Him Out.

It was in the parlor of a Boston boarding house.

"So you are from Cape Cod, are you?" said the wit of the house addressing the newcomer and winking to his fellow boarders, as if to say, "notice how I will draw him out."

"Yes."

"Cape Cod runs a long way into the sea, I believe?"

"Yes, a good bit."

"Pretty dampish climate, I think?"

"Not particularly so."

"Well, now, when I was down there I thought it was. The rain appeared to me to be damper than in the city and to wet one more. It made me pretty wet, I know. Say, don't you think the rain wetter there than here?"

"I don't know. Down there we go in when it rains."

Then the boarders laughed, and the drawing out process was brought to an abrupt conclusion.—Cape Cod Item.

Bridgton.

Repairs on the dam at the Pondicherry mill which have been going on for several weeks are completed, and work will be resumed in the mills the present week. The present opportunity has been taken advantage of to put the machinery in first-class shape. It is credibly reported that the mill company have purchased the fine property of Mr. P. L. Chandler, on High street, in this village, as a residence for the agent, Mr. Lee.

The exodus of summer visitors from our charming town has just begun, every departing boat and train being crowded. Bridgton has entertained a much greater number of strangers this year than ever before; besides having as many as ever of those whom we can always reckon as summer residents. The only lack here the present season, has been room for those who came, and it is to be hoped that this lack may be supplied before another season.

We have had a little much needed rain of late, and the prospect for a sweet corn crop appears to be good. Packing at the Bridgton Canning Co.'s factory began last week.

The village schools will begin next Monday, Sept. 7. Miss Emma Irish will assist in the Grammar school, this being the only change from the teachers of last term.

Rev. Messrs. Harbutt and Parlin exchanged pulpits last Sunday, and both were greeted with good audiences.

Albert Green is again on the street after his recent very severe sickness.

SOUTH BRIDGTON.

There will be quite a large quantity of apples in this region for the season, though they will evidently be smaller than usual and hardly up to the average for quality. On the whole a prosperous season for the "Mossback" if crops signify anything.

Rev. A. Johnson of Roslindale, Mass., who for several weeks has been spending a vacation at Mrs. J. P. Perley's, returns to his pastorate the present week.

Reed Bros., clothing manufacturers, are about closing up the present season's work.

The Ladies' Society of this village meets on Wednesday afternoon and evening of this week, with Mrs. A. T. Perley, of Naples.

Mrs. Mary P. Fitch is quite feeble at her home in this place. Mrs. Fitch is one of our oldest inhabitants, being some over eighty, we believe. Another of our old inhabitants, Mr. William Hill, who is close up to eighty, has just returned from a trip to Mechanic Falls with his horse and phaeton. And still another of these our elderly citizens, Mr. Thomas Smith, our famous apple broker, about the age of the preceding one, fell down his cellar stairs recently and barely escaped with his life.

City boarders are still with us, going and coming, and seem to be delighted with the place.

Brunswick.

Rev. L. A. Freeman occupied the pulpit at the Berean Baptist church, Sunday.

The King's Daughters are making preparations for a fair to be held the third week in September.

W. G. Mallett of Topsham, Bowdoin '91, has taken a position as instructor in the Farmington Normal School.

Canton Brunswick attends the field days of that order at Old Orchard, September 1, 2 and 3.

The outside schools all began Monday with the same corps of teachers.

The members of the Niagara Engine Company have been invited to visit Rockland as the guests of that organization September 8, and have voted to accept the invitation.

Mr. Henry H. Reagan is negotiating with Manager Crawford to deliver his illustrated lecture here. He is a graduate of Yale, and has won for himself a prominent position in the lecture field. It is to be hoped that he may be secured for Brunswick.

A party of Brunswick capitalists have invested in a new paper mill to be built at Jay Bridge, in this state, and work on which has been commenced. The capital stock is $50,000 paid in, half of which was from Brunswick. Alvin Record, the pulp manufacturer of Jay Bridge, is interested in the affair, as well as Portland capitalists.

Porter.

Potatoes are rusting. Grain is about all thrashed and the crop is very good both in quantity and quality. Sweet corn planted for the factory will soon be ready. Mr. F. T. Flint of Cornish, will start his factory at Cornish in about one week.

The cities have abated in this place.

Our fall term of school will commence on Monday next with the same teacher of the summer, Miss Althea F. Cook, of Parsonsfield.

The Factory Co., at Kezar Falls, are repairing their dam across Ossipee river at that place and the Water Power Co., at Saco have shut their gates at Effingham Falls, N. H., to stop the flow of water to enable them to do so. This makes Ossipee river very low and fishermen are having a fine time.

There was a large crowd in attendance at Main's circus at Fryeburg.

Mrs. Sewall Sawyer is slowly recovering from her late sickness. She has been very sick and for a time was thought to be dying.

Mr. Elmer Sawyer was quite severely injured by being thrown from a wagon.

Mr. John F. Towle has a cow that was twenty-three years old the past spring. She ran out a calf the spring season and is as spry as most cows of half the age.

Mrs. French, of Boston, has been on a visit to South Hiram to see her mother, Mrs. Randall Libby.

Gilead.

SERIOUS RIOT.

The Wild River railway is being pushed forward with all possible dispatch, though owing to some hindrance it is hardly probable it will be finished before cold weather. This road extends ten miles to the great timber lands, where several large mills are already in operation.

Wednesday evening of last week, a most disgraceful drunken row occurred at the boarding house of Mrs. Gammon. Several arrests were made with much difficulty. The absence of proper local and county authorities gave the rioters courage to make a stout resistance. Trial Justice Emery of Norway, was telegraphed and promptly responded. A large number of warrants were issued, but a large portion of the offenders fled to the woods and mountains, where pursuit was of no avail. Pat Downie, John Collins and Harry Traverse were convicted of drunkenness and disturbance of the peace; paid fines and costs and were discharged. Henry Donahue was convicted of keeping a drinking house and tipping shop; fined one hundred dollars and sentenced to sixty days in jail. Felix Vares another seller fled from the officers to New Hampshire. The good citizens of Gilead are thoroughly aroused and determined to put a stop to rum and riot at all hazards.

It is estimated that over three millions feet of lumber will be manufactured on Wild river during the coming season.

Bethel.

A club has been formed to be known as Bethel Club Association, connected with the Alpine House. The association has agreed to fill the Alpine House every season, taking with them such friends as they choose. The following are the officers:

President—Mrs. Thomas Green, wife of ex-Mayor Green, of Chelsea, Mass.

Vice President—Miss Ida Newcomb, Boston.

Secretary—Miss Mamie W. Green, Gambio, Ohio.

Treasurer—Miss Marie C. Cole, Chelsea, Mass.

The Alpine House's name is to be changed to Birches, after a group of birches, 50 in number, located some twenty-five feet just south of the house. The house is to be occupied by the club as a summer resort. Special pleasure boats are to be put into Songo Pond and Androscoggin river for their use.

Mrs. G. R. Wiley, son and daughter left here last week for Little Diamond Island, to spend a few weeks vacation.

The chair factory is running on full time; have all they can do to fill orders.

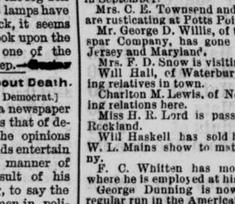
WIT AND WISDOM.

INFORMATION REQUESTED.

[Truth.]



Count D'Organdore—A yacht is now an indispensable adjunct to every gentleman. I am getting one.

She—Indeed; whom are you getting it for?

To act on the liver, and cleanse the bowels, no other medicine equals Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

"What hymn did I understand you to say?" inquired the Sunday school teacher of the young lady who presided at the melodeon, and who had just asked him to close the service, the superintendent being absent.

"Sing half of 246," she answered, smiling at his nervousness and confusion.

"We will now close by singing," he said, addressing the school, "hymn 123."—Harper's Bazar.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smar Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents. Try them.

It is a Poor Rule, Etc.

Mindeure Doctor—Make up your mind there is no pain and there is none. Five dollars, if you please.

Patient (moving toward the door)—Make up your mind there is no pain, and there is none.—Yankee Blade.

Baby cried,
Mother sighed,
Doctor prescribed: Castoria.

Superannuated.

Janes—Those nickel-in-the-slot machines are not a new thing after all. This paper says they are nearly a hundred years old.

Smith—Indeed! Perhaps that is why they so often fail to work.—Munsey's Weekly.

That gray beard of yours can be colored brown or black by Buckingham's Dye.

Honesty the Best Policy.

"Do you love me, Jennie?"

"I do."

"Have you ever loved before?"

"I have."

"Then, darling, be mine. I have long been looking for a truthful girl. If you had said no and I afterwards found out that you had, it would have undermined my confidence in you."

"That's what I thought," said Jennie softly to herself.—New York Press.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

A Safe Place.

Little Louise (at Long Branch)—Mabel, why don't your mamma wear diamond earrings like my mamma's?

Mabel—She left 'em home, and papa's hid 'em where the robbers can't get 'em.

"Where has he hid 'em?"

"Why, I heard him tell mamma that he had put them up the spout, and he guessed they would stay there."—Texas Siftings.

Our national game without Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, to rub the bruises? Impossible!

Our Son Jack.

Mr. Breezey—Our son Jack is getting altogether too large for a youngster.

Mrs. Breezey—Oh, well, the child is father to the man, you know.

Mr. Breezey—Very true, but Jack seems to consider himself father to the whole family.—New York Herald.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla will cure your catarrh, and remove that sickening odor of the breath.

A Bachelor.

Du Lord—So you have sold your beach cottage. What was the matter?

Buford—Squalls.

Du Lord—Cloudy weather most of the time?

Buford—No; baby in the next house.—Lowell Citizen.

Thrashed a Man Twice His Size.

The other day a small, harmless looking man entered a New York street car, and accidentally trod on the toes of a big six-footer. He apologized, but the six-footer wasn't satisfied. He talked for some time, and finally invited the little man to leave the car and settle the matter on the sidewalk. Greatly to his astonishment, the latter accepted. Those who witnessed the contest say that it didn't last long, but that the big fellow had to be carried home in an ambulance, while his diminutive antagonist walked away with a cheerful smile. And so it is with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're not half as big as most of their rivals, but they do their work quietly and thoroughly. For sick headache, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, etc., there is nothing like them. They are the only Liver Pill absolutely sold on trial! Your money back, if they don't give satisfaction!

Equal to the Occasion.

Lady of the House—It seems to me your bill is very large. The other iceman we had didn't charge us half as much.

Iceman—He didn't? Well—er—you see, lady, my ice is a good deal colder than his.—New York Press.

Sterling Exchange is quiet and weak with actual business for bankers bills at 4 81½ for 60-day bills, 4 84½ for demand; posted rates 4 82½@4 85½. Commercial bills are 4 80½ and 4 83¾. Government bonds are dull and firm. Railroad bonds active and strong.

The stock market after 12 o'clock, made but slight further progress in the downward direction at noon figures in most cases were the lowest of the day. The temper of speculation changed completely and prices rose materially. Toward 2 buying was renewed on a large scale and the entire market moved up, Northern Pacific preferred Missouri Pacific and Burlington especially. The strength lasted until close, which was still very active and strong at highest prices of the day.

The transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 462,400 shares.

SUPERIOR COURT.

TUESDAY—The September criminal term was opened this morning with prayer by Rev. Mr. Merrill of the Second Parish. The new grand jury is made up as follows:

James Keazer, (foreman), Portland.
A. Howard Buxton, Cumberland.
Franklin W. Dyer, Cape Elizabeth.
Ira C. Foss, Scarboro.
Edward W. Guptill, Gorham.
George Hawkes, Windham.
Henry Leavitt, Yarmouth.
George W. Libby, Gray.
Arthur Noyes, Fownal.
Fred A. Pollock, Deering.
James Rodick, Freeport.
Edwin W. Rounds, Baldwin.
George A. Storer, Brunswick.
A. N. Waterhouse, Westbrook.
Benj. F. Milliken, Bridgton.

After the charge to the grand jury they retired with the county attorney and began upon the business of the term. The general criminal matters will be taken up first and the rum docket later. There are a great many matters to be presented; nothing of any great public interest, but ordinary complaints of larceny, assaults, burglaries and kindred offences, all of which take time if properly investigated; so that it is very doubtful if the jury gets through before the early part of next week.

Capt. George F. Garland of the missionary ship Morning Star was married Tuesday of this week to Miss Sarah L. Smith of Newton Centre, Mass., a lady whose life has been so far devoted to missionary work in the South Pacific Islands. The Morning Star now lies in the harbor at San Francisco undergoing repairs.

The Bangor Board of Trade has appointed the following committees on the state meeting of the Board of Trade to be held in that city September 29: Invitations, Hon. Henry Lord, chairman ex-officio, Hon. C. A. Boutelle, Hon J. S. Wheelwright, Hon. John L. Cutler, Hon. D. F. Davis, Hon. F. M. Laughton, Gen. C. W. Roberts; exercises, Hon. E. B. Nealley, Hon. Lysander Strickland, Hon. J. P. Bass, C. S. Pearl, C. I. Collamore, J. L. Crosby, E. M. Blanding; banquet, Thomas White, Hon. B. Thatcher, J. Waterman, J. F. Garrity, J. S. Jenness, J. G. Clark and Chas. M. Stewart.

No engagement made at Bar Harbor has ever evoked more comment than one just announced between Mr. Slater, the many times millionaire and owner of the Slater Mills, Webster, Mass., and Miss Mabel Hunt, youngest daughter of the late William M. Hunt, Boston's famous artist. Miss Hunt is a young lady of about 26 or 27 years of age, bright, attractive and accomplished. Mr. Slater is a gentleman somewhere in the region of 60, perhaps more. Another engagement even more astonishing than this is reported, that of Miss Enid Hunt, a sister next older than the bride-elect, to Mr. Slater's son, who is about 25 years of age.

Entertained by Thatcher Post.

Thatcher Post and Relief Corps entertained Cloudman Post and Corps from Saccarappa last evening. About 175 persons sat down to an elegant supper prepared by Thatcher Relief Corps.

A speech of welcome was made by Commander Lawton for the Post, and on behalf of the Corps by Mrs. Huff.

Past Junior Vice Department Commander J. W. Williams, acted as toastmaster. The toasts were as follows:

The Grand Army of 1861 and 1891—"The Nation's defence then, its best reliance now." Response by Comrade Elliott King of Thatcher Post.

The American volunteer soldier—"A soldier from principle and not by education or love of war. The history of the world cannot surpass his record." Response by Quartermaster Robert Debec of Cloudman Post.

Fraternity, charity and loyalty—"In these principles are combined all religion, all morality and progress. None are better exponents of these principles than the Grand Army." Response by Geo. Debec of Cloudman Post.

At the close of the speeches, the floor was cleared and a general fire of running conversation was started all along the line. All hands were talking at once and enjoying themselves generally. Then the dance began and all went as merry as a marriage bell.

Cornelius Connelly's Case.

It will be remembered that recently Mr. Cornelius Connelly was found guilty of illegal transportation and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and suffer one year's imprisonment. He appealed and gave bonds for his appearance before the September term of court.

In July the law court decided that the penalty attached to illegal transportation made it an "infamous crime" and said sentence could only be imposed after a jury trial, and verdict of guilty. Trial justices and judges of municipal courts have authority to bind over, but nothing more. If Connelly had gone to jail he might at once have been released by a writ of habeas corpus. The question now is are the bondsmen held for Connelly's appearance before the September court. The opinion seems to prevail among legal gentlemen that the bonds are void, because of the fact that they were based on an illegal sentence. Judge Gould might have taken bonds for the appearance of the respondent to answer any charge made by the grand jury, but bonds to enter and prosecute an appeal from an illegal sentence, it is believed can not be held. The case is exciting considerable interest.

PATRIARCHS GATHER BY THE SEA.

After Tasting the Hospitality of Their Portland Brethren.

They Made a Brilliant Appearance in Yesterday's Parade.

Last Evening Enlivened With Music and General Jollification.

The first annual field day of the Division of the North, Patriarchs Militant, was not favored with the best of weather. In the early morning the rain fell copiously in New Hampshire and the interior of the state, deterring many chevaliers, who had signified their intention of taking part in the excursion, from participating. It had been announced that fully a thousand chevaliers would march in the parade in Portland yesterday afternoon, but the men in line fell far short of that total.

The Arrivals.

At noon the regiments and cantons began to arrive at Union Station, but owing to heavy trains it was some time after the advertised hour when the last body of chevaliers had been escorted to its temporary quarters. New Hampshire and Western Maine cantons came on special trains. The Biddeford cantons established headquarters at Reform Club Hall, the New Hampshire regiments at Congress Hall, Lewiston and Maine cantons at City Building. The streets were brilliant during the passage of the Patriarchs with their vari-colored plumes, resplendent uniforms, gay banners and the stirring music of the bands. Headquarters were established in the aldermen's room, where Major General O. B. Whitten, with Military Secretary Bickford, was present to receive reports from the subordinate commanders.

The Collation.

After all the cantons had arrived and rested at headquarters, they were marched to City Hall, where an elegant collation had been provided under the management of Chevalier Pooler, manager of "The Sherwood." The tables presented a most appetizing appearance, the men were hungry and made way with the viands in good shape. Before proceeding to the attack, Mayor True, in a few words, welcomed the visitors and congratulated them on the splendid demonstration they made. Major General Whitten also welcomed the Patriarchs, and only regretted that the weather had prevented a larger attendance, and assured them of the fraternal feeling that existed on the part of the Portland cantons for them. The collation included 3000 rolls, each containing a large slice of ham, 1600 doughnuts, 50 loaves of brownbread, 120 pots of baked beans, besides pickles, watermelons and other incidentals. The coffee was sent from Boston all prepared, in hermetically sealed cans, which kept it piping hot, and there was enough to make 3000 cups.

At Odd Fellows' Hall, the ladies who came with the chevaliers were provided with a similar collation. They were taken to the hall in horse cars from the station and formed an especially delightful feature of the occasion. When the parade took place they followed in horse cars and took the train for Old Orchard.

The Parade.

At 3.30 p. m. the line began forming for the parade. The First Regiment of Maine formed on Congress street, with its right resting on Elm, marching through Federal to Franklin, and thence to Congress again. The Second Regiment of Maine formed on Congress street, right resting on Pearl, and marched to Cumberland, to Franklin, to Congress, with its right resting on Congress street. The First New Hampshire Regiment formed on Congress street, right resting on Temple, and marched to Federal, to Pearl, to Congress, with its right resting on Congress. As soon as the parade was formed, at 4.20 p. m., the line of march was taken up for the Union Station passing from Franklin street, directly through Congress street to Union Station. The pageant was fine. The uniforms of the order are so rich in gold lace the plumes of the chapeaux of every color and the uniforms of the bands so diverse, that the effect was magnificent as the long line stretched out for a great distance. Many of the Cantons executed odd movements on the march that called forth much applause from the spectators who crowded the line of march. It was a very successful parade.

The following reception committee had arduous duties to perform, but the members acquitted themselves with credit:

Major General O. B. Whitten, Lt. Colonel Wm. E. Plummer, Lt. Colonel F. T. Merrill, Major F. E. Bickford, Major F. E. Haskell, Major A. E. Perry, Captain Charles J. Butler, Ensign Ira Clay, Sergt. H. BY THE SEA.

Band Concerts and General Jollification at Old Orchard.

[Special to the Press.]

OLD ORCHARD, September 1.—At 5 o'clock special trains from Portland brought 600 Patriarchs Militant to Old Orchard after enjoying the hospitalities of Canton Ridgeley in Portland. Line of march was formed at the depot and the column moved to the Hotel Fiske, where the officers' headquarters were. After performing escort duty the Cantons disbanded to the various hotels where they have headquarters.

The scene of activity this evening was Hotel Fiske. Chandler's Band gave a concert in the office. During the evening Brigadier General H. A. Farrington of the Second Brigade of New Hampshire was presented with a handsome silk sash by the chevaliers and officers of his brigade. The presentation speech was made by Captain J. E. Tolle. General Farrington responded feelingly with a few well chosen words.

Tomorrow there will be a grand review on the beach at 9 a. m. In the afternoon the Cantons will go Biddeford and Saco, and in the evening there will be a grand ball at Hotel Fiske.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

PORTLAND THEATRE.

Another large audience greeted Mr. Shea last evening at Portland Theatre when he produced the play of "Barred Out." The piece is a depiction of Irish life apart from the political agitation of the people, and is in a striking degree like some of the things Dion Boucicault has done with the same material. The sentiment is beautiful, the comedy sunny, and the development natural. Mr. Shea has a part which gives his romantic fancy wide play and displays at his best the youthful enthusiasm of his style. The play deals with the tribulations of an actor who loves a young lady above his station. A rejected suitor separates them temporarily. Meanwhile there is a duel, an attempt to disfigure the hero and a quarrel at a game of cards. There are numerous thrilling incidents that arouse intense enthusiasm, in which are included the casting of an old woman from a turret window, and the gambling table incident, wherein Beresford pins Wyvern's hand to the table with a knife, and the horsewhipping scene in the second act. Mr. Shea is afforded much wider scope in the characters of "Marmaduke, the actor," and "Beresford, the soldier," than in any other roles he has undertaken, and he shows a higher range of ability than he was known to possess. He is always equal to the opportunities for work, and the whole is a consistent and praiseworthy performance of its kind. He is well supported, and the audience last night appreciated the situations and was very demonstrative.

PAVILION THEATRE.

McCallum's drawing room aggregation are giving a very pleasing entertainment at this popular theatre. Last evening a fair-sized audience was present, and generously applauded the performers, whose artistic acts, good singing, witty sayings and pleasing sketches were such as to frequently cause laughter and applause. Tonight the indications point to a full house, and all desirous of good seats should secure them at Stockbridge's.

Arrangements for Labor Day.

Chief Marshal P. W. Hogan and his aids and captains of organizations held a meeting last night and completed all details attending the parade on Labor Day. The Stone Cutters, Paving Cutters and Quarrymen's Union or Redstone, N. H., will come to Portland two hundred strong, and will be met by Chandler's Band at the Commercial street station on the morning of Labor Day. Seven hundred and fifty organized workingmen affiliated with the Central Labor Union of Lewiston and Auburn, headed by the Brigade Band of Lewiston, will arrive in Portland at 8.45 Monday morning. The captains of the Portland organization report full ranks and the Central Labor Union of Portland will turn out about six hundred men. The eastern part of the State will turn out about three hundred men. In all about seventeen hundred men will be in line. The Lewiston Lasters will have a new silk banner. The Portland organizations will turn out with banners and transparencies.

The Lantern Parade Tonight.

Tonight will occur the lantern parade of decorated bicycles postponed from Monday eveening, and if the weather is pleasant a fine procession may be expected. Line will be formed on Pleasant street near the Wheel Club house at 7.30 p. m. The co-operation of all wheelmen in the city is earnestly invited. Every cycler who was intending to parade Monday evening is urged to be on hand tonight and bring a friend with him also, to the end that the parade may be made even more successful than it would have been. For the convenience of the public the route is again printed:

High to Cumberland, to Merrill, to Melbourne, to North, to Congress, to Hampshire, to Federal, to Temple, to Congress, to High, to Deering, to State, to Congress, to Vaughan, to Promenade, to Bowdoin, to Thomas, to Pine, to State, to Spring, to High.

Any illuminations by citizens along the line will be much appreciated by the wheelmen.

Cycling Round the World.

Wheeling around the world is coming to be quite popular. Several tourists have started on such a tour this summer, but all have expressed the determination to avoid the dangerous stretches in Persia and other Asiatic countries, found by Thomas Stevens. However, the people of Maine have no special interest in these globe encircling cyclers; it is to the matter of the coming bicycle races around the track at Woodford Park on Labor Day that the public interest in affairs pertaining to wheeling is now turning. Entries are being received in a satisfactory number, and all things indicate a successful tournament. Gage Brothers have given a handsome self-cocking Hopkins & Allen revolver, with pearl handle and in a plush case, all valued at $10. This will be made one of the prizes, as will also the suit of riding jerseys donated by Owen, Moore & Co.

East Deering Sewer.

The work of laying the new sewer at East Deering is being pushed forward rapidly. There will be two outfalls. The one at the bridge will be on the upper side, and the other through a long pipe in the creek that crosses Main street near Lucas's brick yard. On Main street, between the bridge and Veranda street, the cut is 14 feet deep. From the junction of Main and Veranda streets the sewer will be extended to the railroad crossing through Veranda street. From the junction it will go down to the creek at Lucas's yard. From highwater above the bridge the sewerage will be conducted through a tight box to low water, if such a box can be made to work when placed under the flats. If thought otherwise, then an open box will be used.

Took Him for a Woodcock.

Yesterday was the first of September when close time ended on bird shooting. Mr. Frank Adams, son of Samuel Adams, who lives at Long Creek, Cape Elizabeth, was out after birds and was mistaken for a woodcock by one of a party of sportsmen, also out shooting. He received about 150 bird shot in his person but luckily neither his head or any vital part was touched. His injuries are painful but not dangerous. Dr. Meserve attended him.

Their Biggest Day.

On the Maine Central train Monday night were five Pullmans, every seat of which was occupied. The St. John train had an immense crowd also and was half an hour late in getting into Bangor. It was found necessary to run the train to Portland in two sections, and the Bar Harbor people were taken first, the other section going later with the people from up river. It was the biggest day for the regular trains that the Maine Central has had this summer.

Forest City Rink.

It is an event in one's life to join in a dance at the Forest City Rink with "Bobby" Richardson as prompter. "Bobby" is the old fiddler in the "Old Homestead," who has delighted thousands at the Academy of Music, New York, and he is supported by Wellcome's orchestra of eight pieces. The dancing occurs on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Every afternoon and evening there is tobogganing and skating at the rink.

The Board of Trade Journal.

The September number of the Board of Trade Journal contains a most excellent likeness of Mr. F. A. Smith, the Commercial street merchant, senior partner in the firm of F. A. Smith & Co. The Journal contains also many interesting articles on the business interests of Maine.

The Loyal Legion.

The Military Order of the Loyal Legion will hold its meeting and supper at the Falmouth Hotel at 6 o'clock tonight. At the meeting memorials will be presented in honor of the late Vice President Hamlin and Gen. Thom.

THE TWO COMETS.

One to Occult Some Small Stars Early in September.

A very beautiful astronomical phenomenon will occur on the evenings of September 4th and 5th. Wolff's comet, which is now faintly visible in the constellation Aries, will pass over or occult some of the smaller stars of the Pleiades. At nearest the comet will only be a few minutes north of Alcyone the brightest star of the group. Wolff's comet is one of the list of comets of very short period. Its period being somewhat less than seven years, the time of last perihelion passage was about the 1st of October, 1884. The time of the present perihelion passage will be on the 5th of September. Wolff's comet is one of those comets which never approaches very near to the sun, and is always outside of the orbit of Mars, even when nearest. Its present distance from the sun is in round numbers about one hundred and forty-seven millions of miles, and from the earth about one hundred and four millions of miles. Any one having access to telescopes will have no trouble whatever in identifying the comet on the two nights of its near approach to the Pleiades. The Pleiades now cross the meridian between 5.30 and 6 in the morning, so that by midnight they are well situated for observation.

There is another comet which is now well situated for observations. It is Encke's famous short period comet, with a period of only three and one-third years—the shortest period of any known comet of the present day. Encke's comet is now visible in the northeast and is situated about ten degrees south of the bright star Capella, the leading brilliant in the constellation Auriga. Encke's comet is one of those comets rarely visible to the naked eye, although on some occasions it has just been detected (as in October and November, 1881) as a faint light shining as a star of the fifth magnitude. In the telescope the comet presents a fairly well-defined nucleus with a hazy envelope, often so thin that the faintest star can easily be seen through it.

This Jew Needs Regenerating.

Last night a telegraph messenger complained at the station that he bought a watch at a Jew store on Fore street, near Exchange, paying a dollar and a half for it, the Jew telling him it was a good watch. He couldn't make the watch go and took it to Senter's and several other jewelers, all of whom told him the same story, namely, that it would take $4 to fix it so that it would run and then it wouldn't be worth anything; that it was worn out. Deputy Marshal Sterling told the boy to take it back to the Jew and to tell him to return the money. The Jew, on the contrary, kicked the boy in the side. This action was seen by another boy. Then the messenger returned to the deputy and informed him of what had happened. Sterling sent Officer Norton down and told him to bring back the money or the Jew. The Jew preferred to send the money. Now the Jew ought to be prosecuted for trying to cheat the boy.

The First Response.

District Templar Joseph Craig has made an urgent appeal to subordinate lodges of Good Templars in his district in aid of the family of James Heffier, who fell from a building and fatally injured himself. Try Again Lodge of South Harpswell, has been the first to respond and has remitted through its secretary, George Johnson, $5, and it is hoped the other 29 lodges will do as well.

Regular Army and Navy Union.

The Captain George D. Wallace Garrison has fitted up the hall at 559½ Congress street, in military style. Meetings of the garrison have been changed from Wednesday to Thursday evening. Rations will be served to members of the garrison on Thursday evening of this week. Every member is expected to be present at 8 o'clock.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in the county have been recorded at the registry of deeds:

Gray—Winnie O. Everett to William Dow.
Casco—Michael Sposedo to W. H. Rolfe. $300.
Portland—Trustees of Diocesan Funds to James H. Fitzgerald.

"Fort Warren, Boston, June 15, 1891.

"My wife and child have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for the past two years and it has done them both an incalculable amount of good. We came here from Florida, one of the yellow fever districts. On arrival they were weak, anæmic and thoroughly out of tone in every way. I tried them with iron, quinine, etc., etc., but with no benefit.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

was recommended highly by a personal friend in the service, and I can truly say that it is just as good as you state. Will take precious good care not to be without it hereafter.

A SCROFULOUS BOY

Running Sores Covered His Body and Head. Bones Affected. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

When six months old, the left hand of our little grandchild began to swell, and had every appearance of a large boil. We poulticed it, but all to no purpose. About five months after it became a running sore. Soon other sores formed. He then had two of them on each hand, and as his blood became more and more impure, it took less time for them to break out. A sore came on the chin, beneath the under lip, which was very offensive. His head was one solid scab, discharging a great deal. This was his condition at twenty-two months old, when I undertook the care of him, his mother having died when he was a little more than a year old, of consumption (scrofula, of course). He could walk a little, but could not get up if he fell down, and could not move when in bed, having no use of his hands. I immediately commenced with the CUTICURA REMEDIES, using all freely. One sore after another healed, a bony matter forming in each one of these five deep ones just before healing, which would finally grow loose and were taken out; then they would heal rapidly. One of these ugly bone formations I preserved. After taking a dozen and a half bottles he was completely cured, and is now, at the age of six years, a strong and healthy child. MRS. E. S. DRIGGS.

My grandson remains perfectly well. No signs of scrofula and no sores. MRS. E. S. DRIGGS.
